Accenture Strategy & Consulting

Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for the Strategy Analyst Graduate Position because I am motivated by helping organizations navigate complex change in a structured and meaningful way. Over time, I have become especially interested in how strategy becomes real through alignment, communication, and thoughtful execution, and I see Accenture Strategy as an ideal environment to develop further within exactly that space. The combination of strategic problem solving, technology-related transformation, and close collaboration with clients is particularly appealing to me.

In my current student consulting role at PA Consulting, I support projects with research, workshop preparation, and development of client material. Previously, in a transformation setting at Novo Nordisk, I worked more directly with cross-team coordination, milestone follow-up, and communication support. Together, these experiences have given me an appreciation for both sides of strategy work: the need for strong analysis and the equally important need for structure, momentum, and stakeholder engagement in execution.

My academic background in strategy, organization, and leadership has further strengthened my interest in transformation and implementation. I enjoy working with ambiguity, building overview, and creating clarity for others. At the same time, I am highly motivated by environments where expectations are high and development happens through real responsibility and teamwork.

If possible, I would be particularly interested in being considered for Technology Strategy & Advisory and Industry Strategy. These areas align well with my interest in transformation and my desire to work on strategic questions that connect long-term direction with practical organizational change.

Kind regards,

Freja Bach
