Accenture Strategy & Consulting

Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for the Strategy Analyst Graduate Position because I am motivated by roles that connect strategic thinking with technology-enabled change. Throughout both my studies and student jobs, I have been drawn to situations where the challenge is not only to identify what should be improved, but also to create the alignment and structure needed to make change happen in practice. This is why the Strategy Analyst role at Accenture is so appealing to me.

In my current role at BESTSELLER, I support digital improvement initiatives by helping gather requirements, coordinate testing, and maintain alignment across stakeholders. Earlier, in a customer-facing SaaS role, I learned how often the success of a technology solution depends on adoption, usability, and the ability to translate needs between different groups. These experiences have shaped my interest in technology strategy and transformation, especially where business context and implementation realities need to be considered together.

Academically, I have built a profile that combines technology understanding, project work, and communication. I am comfortable working with ambiguity, synthesizing information from different sources, and helping others build overview. I enjoy environments where collaboration is central and where the goal is to turn analysis into something concrete and useful.

If possible, I would be particularly interested in being considered for Technology Strategy & Advisory. I believe this area aligns closely with my profile and would offer an exciting opportunity to contribute while further developing my ability to bridge business needs and technology decisions in a strategic consulting environment.

Kind regards,

Laura Winther
