Accenture Strategy & Consulting

Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for the Strategy Analyst Graduate Position because I am excited by the opportunity to work in a role where strategic thinking, technology understanding, and practical client work are closely connected. Over the past few years, I have deliberately built a profile that is broad rather than narrowly specialized, because I enjoy operating in spaces where business questions are complex and solutions require both structured analysis and cross-functional collaboration. This is also why Accenture Strategy feels like such a strong fit.

In my current and previous roles, I have worked with strategy research, business case development, digital initiative support, and coordination across different stakeholders. These experiences have taught me how to create structure in ambiguous settings, how to communicate clearly, and how to contribute to progress even when the problem is not fully defined from the outset. I enjoy the variety of consulting work and the challenge of adapting quickly while maintaining analytical quality.

Academically, I have focused on innovation, technology strategy, and information systems, which has strengthened both my business understanding and my ability to engage with digital topics. I am curious by nature, comfortable working in teams, and motivated by steep learning curves. I also value environments where ideas can be challenged constructively and turned into something useful for clients.

If possible, I would be particularly interested in being considered for Technology Strategy & Advisory and Industry Strategy. Both practice areas align well with my profile and interest in strategy work that combines long-term direction, technology-enabled change, and practical business value.

Kind regards,

Camilla Due
