Dear Accenture Strategy & Consulting,

I know my profile is not the most traditional strategy candidate on paper, but I believe I bring something useful to a graduate role: I am reliable in execution, comfortable taking responsibility for coordination, and motivated by learning quickly in teams where the pace is high. Over the last few years I have become increasingly interested in how strategy only creates value when it is converted into implementation.

Through my studies and experience, I have built a profile that fits the role's emphasis on strong analytical skills, research, communication, workshop preparation, and collaboration with senior stakeholders. I enjoy turning broad problem statements into structured analyses and practical next steps, including Excel-based modelling, market and competitor research, synthesis of interviews, or preparing presentation material for decision-makers.

I am particularly interested in being considered for Technology Strategy & Advisory or Industry Strategy. At the same time, I am attracted by the breadth of the Strategy Analyst role because it would allow me to keep developing at the intersection of business strategy and technology. I would value the opportunity to contribute with my mix of transformation orchestrator + tech strategist capabilities while learning from experienced colleagues in a demanding and collaborative environment.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I would be very motivated to discuss how I could contribute and learn in the role.

Kind regards,

Frederikke Toft
