

Hannah Deirdre

Dear Recruitment Team,

I am writing to apply for the Management Consulting Analyst - Graduate Position at Accenture Strategy & Consulting. With an MBA in Finance, prior engineering studies, internship experience in portfolio management and corporate functions, and a strong interest in business analysis and technology-enabled decision-making, I am eager to begin my consulting career in an environment where I can contribute analytically while continuing to learn across industries and functions.

Accenture is particularly attractive to me because of its breadth of client work and its clear focus on solving business challenges through a combination of strategic thinking and execution. I am motivated by roles where I can analyze information, structure insights, and support organizations in making better decisions. Through my studies and project work, I have developed a strong interest in financial analysis, market trends, and business problem-solving. My academic projects in stock market analysis, portfolio construction, and predictive modeling have strengthened both my quantitative skills and my ability to translate findings into practical recommendations.

My internships have also given me valuable exposure to professional environments where learning quickly, adapting to new responsibilities, and collaborating with others were essential. In portfolio management, I gained insight into markets, risk, and client-oriented thinking. In a broader corporate setting, I also developed a stronger understanding of how different business functions connect and how analytical work can support larger organizational goals. These experiences have made me increasingly interested in consulting, where the ability to combine analysis, communication, and structured execution is central.

I would describe myself as ambitious, detail-oriented, and adaptable. I enjoy working in teams and value opportunities to contribute in environments that are fast-paced and intellectually challenging. I am also motivated by continuous learning and by the possibility of working with clients on problems that require both business understanding and openness to technology-driven solutions.

If I were to indicate a preference, I would be especially interested in Financial Services, given my background in finance and my strong interest in markets, risk, and value creation. That said, I would also welcome the opportunity to contribute more broadly across Accenture Consulting and continue building a cross-functional perspective.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my academic background, internship experience, and motivation for consulting align with the Management Consulting Analyst role at Accenture.

Kind regards,
Hannah Deirdre
